12	Update on Community-Led Planning and Neighbourhood Plan Community First, the Rural Community Council for Wiltshire, and Common Places, a Social Enterprise supporting the development of resilient communities, delivered presentations regarding Community-Led Planning and the Neighbourhood Plan, which they were leading on respectively. Community First: Community-Led Planning Marion Rayner, Community Development Manager, and Belinda Fowler, Community Development Officer, provided an update on Community-Led Planning across the Royal Wootton Bassett & Cricklade Community Area. Community First was a charity that supported communities to create Community-Led Plans that would inform the Community Area Plan. A Community-Led Plan was a strategy for the community for a five-year period. The plan covered all issues of concern within a community, including social, economic and environmental issues. The plan was designed to reflect the views of all sections of the community through a good process of consultation. Community First offered direct support for steering groups, access to Community-Led Planning resources, assistance with coordination, new ideas and workshops. In the Royal Wootton Bassett & Cricklade Community Area, there were currently 10 out of the 12 parishes and towns involved in the Community-Led Planning process, and two plans were already complete. Common Places: Neighbourhood Plan Mark Goodman provided an overview of the Neighbourhood Plan process and how this applied to the Royal Wootton Bassett & Cricklade Community Area. A Neighbourhood Plan, as defined by the Localism Act 2011, was “a plan which set out policies (however expressed) in relation to the development and use of land”. Once a Neighbourhood Plan had demonstrated its general conformity with the strategic policies of the Local Plan and was brought into force, the policies it contained took precedence over existing non-strategic policies in the Local Plan in that neighbourhood. Common Places had been commissioned to lead on the development of a Neighbourhood Plan for the Royal Wootton Bassett & Cricklade Community Area. The process was well underway and would soon be leading into a public consultation phase, to be followed by formal consultation. Both Community First and Common Places were working together to maintain communication, share local knowledge, overcome challenges and facilitate

	understanding of the two separate but linked processes. Following the presentations from Community First and Common Places, the following questions and comments arose: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • One of the real benefits of Neighbourhood Plans was identifying and dealing with common issues. • All data was stored in digital format which made it easier to collate efficiently and create common databases. • Common Places was funded to carry out its work directly through the client, which in this case was Wiltshire Council, and funding for the project had been received through DCLG. • Community First was a registered charity and was part of a national network of Rural Community Councils. Community First's funding for this work was received from DEFRA. • The Royal Wootton Bassett & Cricklade Area Board had also supported the process by agreeing to make funding available for parishes and towns seeking to embark upon the Community-Led Planning process. • Parish councils were the qualifying bodies insofar as a Neighbourhood Plan was concerned. If a parish council chose not to participate in a Neighbourhood Plan for the Community Area as a whole, then that parish would not be included in the Neighbourhood Plan process which could then result in a 'donut plan' to exclude any parish(s) which did not participate. A brief round-table exercise was held, and people were asked to identify what they felt could be the biggest challenges to developing the two planning processes. A list of the suggestions can be viewed at Appendix 1 to these minutes. The Chairman congratulated Community First and Common Places for working so well in partnership together, and thanked them for attending the Area Board to deliver their presentations.
13	Volunteering in Wiltshire Karen Scott, Voluntary Development Manager for Wiltshire Council and Simone Lord of Volunteer Centre Wiltshire delivered a presentation on the work being undertaken by the Council and its partners to develop and support volunteering in Wiltshire. Work was ongoing to make volunteering available to all, and to ensure that volunteering was well managed, supported and recognised through schemes such as the new 'Time Credits' scheme, a scheme whereby volunteers were rewarded by the time they gave by receiving a time credit which could be redeemed against certain time-related activities. There were plenty of opportunities available for volunteers; 1,500 volunteering

	opportunities had now been promoted through the Volunteer Centre and the number of volunteers had doubled in the last year to 2,265. Further information on volunteering opportunities was available by telephoning 0845 521 6224 or by visiting www.volunteercentrewiltshire.org.uk. Following the presentation, the following comments arose: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A Time Credits website was currently under development, and would contain information regarding how and where Time Credits could be redeemed. • In the meantime, there was information on the Facebook page: www.facebook.com/chippenhamtimecredits • Further information on the Time Credits pilot was also available on the Wiltshire Council website: www.wiltshire.gov.uk/wiltshiretimecredits • The Time Credits scheme was mainly aimed at new volunteers to encourage more people to get involved with volunteering who wouldn't normally otherwise. • The pilot was currently running in the Chippenham area, but it was hoped it could be extended throughout other areas if communities were interested in developing the scheme in their own areas. The Chairman thanked Karen and Simone for their presentation.
14	Wiltshire Community Bank: Tackling Social Exclusion Emma Cooper, Community Partnership Manager, gave a presentation regarding Tackling Financial Exclusion in Wiltshire. Financial exclusion was often hidden within our communities and could be hard to identify. It was not just something that occurred in urban areas; but existed in rural areas too and was also more likely to exist where there were high levels of affordable housing. Research showed a correlation between low income and deprivation, and employed people and pensioners were also affected. In the Royal Wootton Bassett & Cricklade Community Area there were three areas that were within the most deprived 20% in Wiltshire and 7.5% of families were classed as 'vulnerable'. There was also a decline in rural facilities, such as post offices. Wiltshire Council was the lead body for improving financial inclusion and was working with organisations such as Wiltshire Money to improve financial capability and offer better access to free money advice, financial products and services. The Wiltshire Community Bank was a credit union service in Wiltshire which allowed people to save and borrow at an affordable rate. People were encouraged to join Wiltshire Community Bank as members pooled their savings

	to lend to one another, so the service was more effective the more people who participated. The Chairman thanked Emma for her presentation.
15	Evaluation and Close An evaluation exercise was held using the electronic voting devices. Comments and suggestions were welcomed and could be fed through the local members. The Chairman thanked everyone for attending the meeting. The next meeting of the Wootton Bassett & Cricklade Area Board would be held on Wednesday 26 September 2012, from 6pm at Cricklade Town Hall.

Royal Wootton Bassett and Cricklade Area Board Meeting

25th July 2012

Comments in answer to:-

What are the biggest challenges to developing the two processes? (Neighbourhood Plan and Community Led Plans)

- Amount of time and keeping focussed
- Reconciling needs of Parishes and Towns infrastructure together
- Communication to public – clarity of 2 processes
- We need to see Common Places Work Plan – who, what and when by – seems a bit wishy washy
- I fail to see or believe that parish plans coming into the NAP process late can have a full and meaningful engagement
- The defining envelope is the Core Strategy and that has hundreds of objectives to it. So meaningful alignment between the CS, NAP and CLP is highly unlikely.
- Firstly I hate post-its and surely we have moved beyond that
- The Localism Act allows any parish to develop a Neighbourhood Plan – so Alistair Cunningham was wrong when he said parishes could be left out – this has been confirmed with DCLG
- Community involvement and apathy
- Consultation fatigue
- Neighbourhood Plans – needs of area are so diverse that Neighbourhood Plan will be too generic
- Apathy of community
- ‘Manpower’ for PPs and TPs
- What is common to all and what happens to gathered non-pl??
- Resistance to change
- Consensus could be hard to find
- Inability to make decisions within the required timescale
- Using the collected data to benefit both processes which may have differing needs and outcomes
- Finding the same solutions for different areas to the common issues
- Communication of the 2 processes to avoid confusion
- Securing input from broad sections of the community – notably youth
- Generating community involvement
- Limited volunteer time evaporating in a fog of confusion
- No money
- Neighbourhood Plan needs to be focussed on a single issue (or a few). Having lots of different issues from different parishes is recipe for disaster. What would people be voting for in Referendum?
- It all seems unnecessarily complicated
