

Welcome to the new Culverhay!

This month we are celebrating the completion of the Culverhay regeneration project that got underway in May 2017 - but was being planned for years before that. It has seen 65 older properties in the neighbourhood demolished and replaced with 109 new energy efficient homes.

GreenSquareAccord has enjoyed working closely with contractor EG Carter, Cricklade Town Council, Wiltshire Council and a steering group of local people on this complex project, built in five phases. Look out for the new information board, produced by the town council, that will soon be installed in the area.

Giving residents the option to return to the area once the build was completed has always been a priority. One of those who did just that said: "I've lived in Culverhay for the past 16 years and my family lives here too, so I'm glad to be able to stay in the area. I have much more space in this new bungalow and a lovely big garden too. I couldn't be happier."

Tom Chapman-Young, GreenSquareAccord Regeneration Manager, said:

"What an amazing journey it has been! The feedback from residents has been very positive and it has been great working with the community from start to finish. Our residents are at the heart of all our regeneration schemes - we know how important community is and building sustainable communities is something we do best! Thank you to all the residents in the area for your continued support and working with us to deliver this much-improved estate."
