Reasons

The only relevant grounds for refusal would have been that the grant of the licence would be inappropriate having regards to the character of the relevant locality and the use to which premises in the vicinity are put. The sub-committee noted that there were a number of residential properties and shops in the vicinity together with a nursery, places of worship and historic buildings. The sub-committee also noted that the Council's policy provides that no new sex establishment will be permitted if situated within 100m distance of such buildings., However, the sub-committee were aware that they had to consider each application on its merits and that the premises had been operating similar activities to those applied for a period of ten years without complaints. There was no evidence of any adverse impact on the locality from those activities.

In reaching their decision the sub-committee took into account the Home Office Guidance on Sexual Entertainment Venues in particular paragraphs 4.19 to 4.21, (relating to the human rights issues to be considered when determining applications) and the Council's Sex Establishment Licensing Policy.
