Great crested newts and all reptiles are legally protected and planning permission does not provide a defence against prosecution. In order to minimise the risk of amphibians/reptiles occurring on the site, the developer is advised to clear the site and vegetation in a sympathetic manner during the autumn (September/October) or spring months (April-May) and to maintain the vegetation at a short height to make it unsuitable for reptiles/amphibians until the construction works commence. If these species are found during the works, the applicant is advised to stop work and follow advice from an independent ecologist or a Council Ecologist (01225 713875 / 718182).

Badgers are protected under the Protection of Badgers Act 1992 mainly for welfare purposes. If works are carried out in close proximity to a known badger sett, then a licence may be required. Please see Natural England's website for further information.

The applicant should note that under the terms of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 (as amended) and the Conservation of Habitats and Species Regulations 2010 (as amended) it is an offence to disturb or harm any protected species, or to damage or disturb their habitat or resting place. Please note that this consent does not override the statutory protection afforded to any such species. In the event that your proposals could potentially affect a protected species you should seek the advice of a suitably qualified and experienced ecologist and consider the need for a licence from Natural England prior to commencing works.
